

U.S. Dollar Benchmark Bonds

IFC has issued U.S. dollar benchmarks in global markets since 2000. Our benchmark bonds attract a diverse investor base consisting predominantly of central banks, official institutions, commercial banks, and fund managers. We focus on liquidity, market diversification and regular presence, yield curve construction, and continued secondary performance.

USD SOFR Floating Rate Notes Bonds

In June 2021, IFC issued its inaugural Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) bond, as part of the Corporation's transition to SOFR, helping to ease the transition to the SOFR rate, raising capital for private sector development and job creation in emerging markets. In October 2021, IFC issued the first ever Social SOFR FRN showcasing its support for medical services in the emerging markets.

Australian Dollar Public Bonds

The Australian dollar market is a key market for IFC. Our commitment to this market is reflected in the establishment of a stand-alone AUD Domestic Debt Issuance Program in 2007. IFC has over 13.5 billion Australian dollar Kangaroo bonds outstanding.

Our Australian dollar bonds offer attractive term funding to a growing international investor base and an attractive yield pickup versus Australian government bonds. IFC's Australian dollar domestic bonds are repo-eligible with the Reserve Bank of Australia.

New Zealand Dollar Public Bonds

IFC issued its first Kauri bond in 2007 and we have been present in this market regularly since then. In 2017 IFC issued the first green bond in the New Zealand market to foster the growth of green, social, and sustainable bonds. New Zealand capital markets offer a deep and sophisticated investor pool which has provided continuous and reliable support for IFC over the years.

Other Public Bonds

In addition to issuances in the above public markets, IFC is focused on broadening our presence in other public markets through new bond and tap issuances. We have an established track record of accessing public markets denominated in Mexican peso, Brazilian real, and Swedish krona, and we have established a yield curve out to 15 years in Indian rupee.
