MAKING HISTORY

On April 12, 2019, 60 global investors came together to adopt and launch the Operating Principles for Impact Management—a market standard for impact investing in which investors seek to generate positive impact for society alongside financial returns in a disciplined and transparent way.
Impact investing has emerged as a significant opportunity to mobilize both public and private capital into investments that target measurable positive social and environmental impact alongside financial returns. A growing number of investors are incorporating impact investments into portfolios. Many are adopting the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and other widely recognized goals such as the Paris Climate Agreement (COP21) as a reference point to illustrate the relationship between their investments and impact goals.

The question for many investors is how to grow the level of investments targeting impact. Despite the increased interest in and number of product launches claiming to be impact investments, there has been no common discipline for how to manage investments for impact and the systems needed to support this. This has created complexity and confusion, as well as a lack of clear distinction between impact investing and other forms of responsible investing.

To address this challenge, the International Finance Corporation (IFC), in consultation with a core group of stakeholders—impact asset managers, asset owners, asset allocators, and development banks and financial institutions—has developed "Operating Principles for Impact Management." These Principles establish a common discipline and market consensus around the management of investments for impact and help shape and develop this market.

The Principles reflect best practices across a range of public and private institutions. They integrate impact considerations into all phases of the investment lifecycle: strategy, origination and structuring, portfolio management, exit, and... independent verification. They also call for annual disclosure, including independent verification, which will provide credibility to the market.

The Principles provide clear a common market standard for what constitutes an impact investment, helping to mitigate the potential for “impact-washing.”

"We believe there is now potential to bring impact investing into mainstream. Our ambitions are very high—we want much more money managed for impact because there’s no time to lose to deliver on the billions to trillions agenda."

PHILIPPE LE HOUÉROU
Chief Executive Officer, IFC

IFC, a sister organization of the World Bank and member of the World Bank Group, is the largest global development institution focused on the private sector in emerging markets. We work with more than 2,000 businesses worldwide, using our capital, expertise, and influence to create markets and opportunities in the toughest areas of the world. In fiscal year 2018, we delivered more than $23 billion in long-term financing for developing countries, leveraging the power of the private sector to end extreme poverty and boost shared prosperity.

Actis believes “Values drive value”. We have never seen a compromise between responsible investing and delivering competitive returns. Our experience is that investing responsibly creates businesses that are more resilient, more innovative and better able to deliver societal benefits – and are, ultimately, more valuable. Spun out of the UK government’s development finance institution, Actis has eight decades of experience mobilizing $15 billion of financing from institutional investors—all of it in growth markets. The hundreds of companies and projects we invest in demonstrate innovative and sustainable ways to efficiently tackle entrenched issues, from lack of access to clean water and sanitation to food security, natural resource conservation and economic inequality. Our portfolio companies are creating new ways to deliver healthcare, education and energy to those most in need, and credit and financial services to the world’s unbanked billions—all the while delivering healthy returns.”

ANDREW NEWINGTON
Partner, Chief Investment Officer/Chief Operating Officer, Actis

Actis is a leading growth markets investor. With a growing portfolio of investments across Asia, Africa and Latin America it has raised US$13bn since inception. A 70 year heritage, a proven track record and experience built through specialisation and pattern recognition makes Actis the partner of choice for investors, management teams, entrepreneurs and governments alike. Applying developed market disciplines to emerging markets, an established team of c. 100 investment professionals in ten countries identify investment opportunities in private equity, energy, infrastructure, and real estate. Actis targets consistent superior returns across asset classes over the long term, bringing financial and social benefits to investors, consumers and communities. We believe values drive value.

“Our hope is to prove the viability of building businesses that specifically serve the poor as one way to solve our toughest problems and to encourage a generation of entrepreneurial investors to recognize the power of using investment as a means, not an end in itself.”

JACQUELINE NOVOGRATZ
Chief Executive Officer, Acumen Fund

Acumen is changing the way the world tackles poverty by investing in companies, leaders and ideas. We invest patient capital in businesses whose products and services are enabling the poor to transform their lives. Founded by Jacqueline Novogratz in 2001, Acumen has invested more than $106 million in 96 companies across Africa, Latin America and South Asia. We are also developing a global community of emerging leaders with the knowledge, skills and determination to create a more inclusive world. In 2015, Acumen was named one of Fast Company’s Top 10 Most Innovative Not-for-Profit Companies.

At BNP Paribas Asset Management, we have a long history of investing with impact. We recognize that in order to take our commitment to impact measurement to the next level, consistent principles and metrics need to be put in place. The IFC Operating Principles for Impact Management are a tangible step towards the establishment of a common and transparent framework.

FRÉDÉRIC JANBON
Chief Executive Officer, BNP Paribas Asset Management
Calvert Impact Capital is excited to become a Signatory to the Principles, which will add greater rigor to the practice of impact measurement and management. As an impact investor that works directly with the global capital markets, we believe this rigor is critical to enhancing the credibility and integrity of impact investing. The widespread adoption of the Principles will introduce the clarity and consistency necessary to unleash greater investor participation and, ultimately, enable the industry to achieve the scale required to address the Sustainable Development Goals.”

JENNIFER PRYCE
Chief Executive Officer, Calvert Impact Capital

Calvert Impact Capital (formerly Calvert Foundation) invests to create a more equitable and sustainable world. Through our products and services, we raise capital from individual and institutional investors to finance intermediaries and funds that are investing in communities left out of traditional capital markets. During our 22-year history, we have mobilized nearly $2 billion of investor capital. Calvert Impact Capital has recently expanded our services to include loan syndications, where we originate, structure and administer loans for institutional and accredited investors seeking environmental and social impact. Since the launch, we have syndicated and/or administered more than $165 million of capital across ten transactions.

Investing for impact and with impact in emerging and frontier economies is what EBRD was created for in 1991. We’re pleased to join other signatories of these Principles to create common high standards for impact investors and attract much needed capital urgently needed to address global development challenges.”

SUMA CHAKRABARTI
President, EBRD

The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD) invests in changing people’s lives from central Europe to Central Asia, the Western Balkans and the southern and eastern Mediterranean. Since 1991, we have invested over €130 billion in more than 5,200 projects. With a strong private sector emphasis, we finance projects, support policy reform and provide technical advice to foster innovation and entrepreneurship. Working in close collaboration with other development organisations, we are committed to delivering the ambitious goals of the 2030 Development Agenda. The Sustainable Development Goals are aligned with the EBRD’s belief that a well-functioning market economy should be competitive, well-governed, green, inclusive, resilient and integrated. We are committed to helping the economies in which we invest achieve the transition goals defined by these six qualities. We are also well on track to achieve our climate finance target of dedicating 40 per cent of our annual investments to the green economy by 2020.

The European DFIs in the EDFI Association invest to have a significant and lasting impact on the SDGs in emerging and frontier markets. We work with private investors to join us in this quest so that much larger amounts of investment will be managed for impact in the future. These Principles promise to be a valuable tool for impact investors; and they are in line with our experience and track-record. We welcome the initiative by IFC and look forward to working with other first-adopters to promote the Principles. We will also apply them to the impact investment activities of the EDFI Management Company.”

SØREN PETER ANDRESEN
Chief Executive Officer, EDFI

EDFI promotes the work of 15 bilateral development finance institutions that invest in the private sector in emerging and frontier markets to create jobs, boost growth and fight poverty. They invest in financial services, clean energy, industry and many other sectors in more than 100 countries. Since EDFI was set up in 1992, its members have invested more than $125 billion in app. 15,000 projects. The shared vision of the European DFIs is “to improve people’s lives—for current and future generations—in the world’s poor places through the engine of private sector growth. We believe entrepreneurship is key to creating sustainable economic growth and jobs. Therefore, we enter markets where few others dare to tread and provide long-term financing at market-oriented rates.” An important part of EDFI’s work is to promote financial cooperation between its members and with the EU institutions, and for this purpose EDFI has established the EDFI Management Company and other joint financing facilities.

For an investment to qualify as impact investment, we believe that many conditions need to be fulfilled. It is not sufficient to invest in companies doing business with people at the bottom of the pyramid. Impact investments require a stringent, methodological approach, before and during the lifetime of the investment. Defining impact objectives and measuring social performance, outcome and impact is key. The client is at the centre of our impact investments. At Incofin, we have developed this approach for many years and we have benchmarked it with best practices in the impact universe. We welcome IFC’s initiative to underscore the importance of genuine impact investments.”

LOÏC DE CANNIÈRE
Managing Partner and Founder, Incofin IM

Incofin IM is a leading international impact investment company focused on investing in dynamically managed enterprises in emerging countries. We have over 18 years of experience in dealing with risk capital in the form of debt and equity investments, with over USD 1 billion of assets under management across 66 countries and with more than 300 investees. Our focus is on financial services and the food and agriculture sector, mostly for rural and agricultural end-clients.

LeapFrog Investments invests in exceptional businesses in emerging Asia and Africa – and enables leaps of growth, profitability and impact. Launched in 2008, the group’s portfolio of companies now reaches 157.4 million people with financial services and healthcare, across 33 countries. 131.4 million of those people are emerging consumers; most are accessing formal insurance, savings, pensions, credit, remittances or healthcare for the first time. LeapFrog, which has had over $1 billion of capital invested, brings a proven 10-year track record as a trusted General Partner to investors in private markets. LeapFrog Investments invests $10-50 million for majority or influential minority stakes in growing companies that have exceptional management teams and are focused on providing services that address the needs of emerging consumers. LeapFrog companies have grown on average by 40 per cent per year since investment, and the group is now backed by many of the world’s leading institutional investors. In 2017, LeapFrog was named by Fortune as one of the top five Companies to Change the World, alongside Apple and Novartis, becoming the first private investment group ever listed.

These practical Principles are a leap forward for transparency and accountability. There is no excuse for vagueness now, in intention or reporting, in impact investing. Over more than a decade [co-building the industry], with LeapFrog’s companies now serving 170 million people, our experience has been that clear goals, metrics and tracking of impact all consistently enhance performance. Going forward, investors will find it easier to identify the synergies between profit and purpose. Meanwhile, impact-washing just became far harder.”

The private sector has a significant role to play in addressing the sustainable development goals. For Phatisa, doing well means more than simply generating returns, it means creating beneficial, material and lasting impacts for people, the planet and institutions. We believe in building inclusive businesses that generate positive outcomes for all our stakeholders and we are committed to responsible environmental management in all our activities. To us, this is more than just words: we put our money where our mouth is, screening deals for impact potential at the sourcing stage and committing full-time resources and budget to driving impact initiatives during the management phase. We believe that the sustainable development goals are achievable, and as we strive to address food insecurity and build sustainable cities, all the while focusing on empowering the poorest people in our value chains, we accept the challenge of creating a more equitable, just, inclusive and sustainable future for all.”
