

eCONSULTANT2

WORLD BANK GROUP

Transparency, Fairness, and Competition

eConsultant2 is the World Bank Group's solution to enable easy and intuitive participation in solicitations for operational consulting opportunities on Bank Group Operations for both individual consultants and firms. The eConsultant database allows you to submit your personal and/or firm profile, giving task managers at IFC easy access to qualified candidates when they are searching for consultants and allowing consultants to view and express interest in current bidding opportunities. The system is used by IFC to carry out the procurement process efficiently and provides you with a secure online application that will help you manage and monitor your end of the bidding process.

eConsultant2 guide

Homepage. On the homepage you can login, register and build your profile or find user support.

Bidding Opportunities. All publicly advertised opportunities are displayed here. You can view the details and qualification requirements of a specific opportunity and express interest. You do not need to be registered to view the opportunities. If you choose to express interest, you will be presented with a form to provide your qualifications and documents which you can draft and return to at a later stage.

Dashboard. All active selections you have expressed interest in, or your responses to an RFP, can be viewed here. Cancelled or completed selections can be found in 'My Archived Selections' under options.

Request for Proposal (RFP). If you are invited to submit a proposal eConsultant2 provides you with the facility to respond and submit the required documents and your proposal prices.

The World Bank Group's procurement process is guided by the principles of transparency, fairness, competition, and best value, reflected throughout the selection and award process. We invite you to view the list of advertised Bank Group solicitations in the Business Opportunities page. Your company does not need to be a World Bank Group registered vendor in order to express interest or participate in the solicitations however if you are selected to receive a contract or purchase order award from the Bank Group, your company must complete a vendor registration form, meet all eligibility requirements, and provide supporting documentation.
