Social Risk Management
IFC Performance Standards and Social Impacts
Land Acquisition and Resettlement
February 8 – 19, 2021
About the course

The online training course is organized by the International Finance Corporation (IFC) in collaboration with the Myanmar Environmental Assessment Association and supported by the Australian and UK governments.

This online training course promotes understanding and skills development in managing the social risks and impacts associated with the development of projects in Myanmar in sectors such as infrastructure, energy and agribusiness, among others. It is intended to help develop practical skills based on the IFC Performance Standards related to social risk, including land acquisition and resettlement, with a detailed focus on the challenges in the Myanmar context. The course is based on good international practices and standards, lessons learned on the ground and practical case studies.

The topics covered in this two-week online course include:

- IFC Performance Standards
- Social impacts identification and management
- Social impact assessment tools
- Ethnic minorities and vulnerable groups
- Principles, key concepts and considerations in land acquisition
- Physical resettlement and livelihood restoration

The course will be delivered in approximately 20 hours, which includes working through learning materials (videos, presentations, exercises and mandatory readings) and four tutorial sessions with the trainers.

The course includes access to selected downloadable materials and international guidance and best practice notes on social impact assessment and management and resettlement planning and implementation.
